

Tarja Kallonen, Senior Advisor, Aalto University Executive Education, reports on the research findings on the five most important future competencies in the financial sector. The book "Continuous learning - the most important skill in working life" written by Kallonen will be published in November 2021.